

Department of Geography, Royal Holloway University of London

Taster Days

“Geopolitics and Climate Change”

- ▶ Join us for one, or both, of our Taster Days to experience studying Geography at Royal Holloway, University of London
- ▶ Run online and will include interactive discussions with staff and other students.
- ▶ Aimed at Year 12 and Year 13 students and will be of interest to those considering studying geography at university.
- ▶ You will see four sample lectures from our experts that cover the breadth of our curriculum, and receive a virtual tour of our beautiful leafy campus.
- ▶ The expert lectures will cover volcanoes, modern day slavery, Antarctica climate change and geopolitics. They will highlight some of the dynamic physical and human processes shaping our world, and exemplify the global challenges that we face.

Department of Geography

Follow us to see what life is like in
@RHULGeography

University of London
RHUL Taster Day
Tuesday 29th March 2022

RHUL Geography Taster Day
Tuesday 5th July 2022

Each Taster Day will include a Climate Change Summit where you will have the opportunity to participate in a Mock Summit to learn about the political and social aspects shaping humanity's response to climate change.

For more information, or if booking multiple tickets (e.g. for a school group) please email: Bethan.Davies@royalholloway.ac.uk

Click the Taster Day link at www.royalholloway.ac.uk/geography/teacher-hub for the full schedule